

To learn more about the healthiest time to become pregnant, visit the Extending Service Delivery (ESD) Project website at: www.esdproj.org

Bayer Schering Pharma AG
Social Health Care Programs
Family Planning
13342 Berlin, Germany

www.bayerscheringpharma.de

Thinking about getting pregnant again? When is a good time?

Social Health Care Programs
Family Planning ■ ■ ■ ■

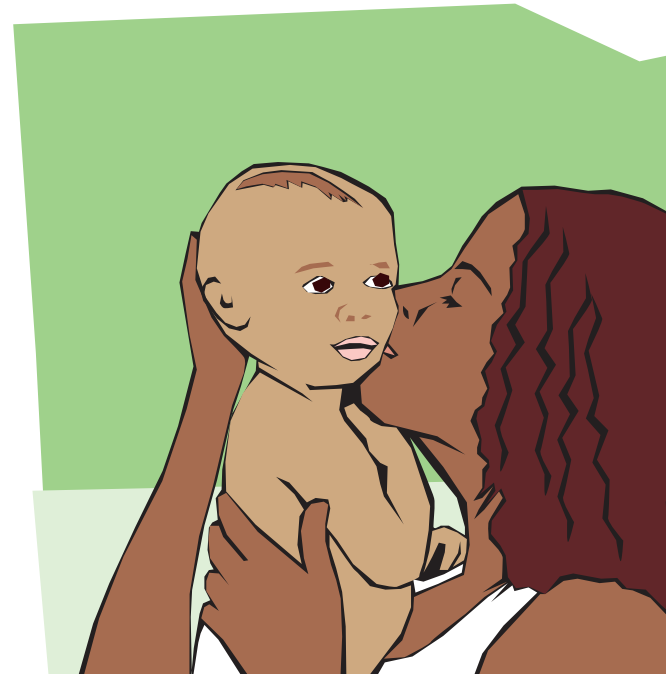

If you've just had a baby, when is a good time to get pregnant again?

You should wait at least 2 years before trying to get pregnant.

Why wait 2 years after having a baby before trying to get pregnant again?

Because scientific studies show that:

- » Mothers who wait 2 years are less likely to die in childbirth.
- » Their newborns are less likely to die, be underweight or be born prematurely.
- » Babies grow up bigger, stronger and healthier.

If you've had a miscarriage or abortion, when is a good time to get pregnant again?

You should wait at least 6 months before trying to get pregnant again.

Why wait 6 months after a miscarriage or abortion before trying to get pregnant again?

Because scientific studies show that:

- »» A woman who waits is less likely to have a miscarriage, premature birth, or small or underweight baby.
- »» Waiting 6 months protects the pregnant woman's health and the health of her baby.

How can I make sure I don't get pregnant?

Use a family planning method of your choice.

Talk to your doctor, nurse or pharmacist for more information on the methods below.

Condoms

Oral contraceptive: Pills
Microgynon 30 ED FE®

1 monthly / 3 monthly
Injection
Noristerat®

Implants
Jadelle®

IUD/IUS
(Intra Uterine Systems)
Nova T®
LNG-IUS (Mirena®)